Table of Contents

Editors’ Foreword ............................................................................................................. 5

Introduction .................................................................................................................... 6

Features

Teaching English As an International Language: Its Past, Present, and Future As a New ELT Paradigm
Essay by: Aya Matsuda, Arizona State University ................................................................. 7

Revisiting the Global Classroom: An Essential Guide to Study Abroad
Essay by: Jessica DuPlaga Deutsch and Jeffrey S. Lantis, The College of Wooster .......... 10

Looking Forward: Rethinking Cultural Competence in a Divisive National Climate
Essay by: Edna B. Chun, HigherEd Talent ......................................................................... 14

Writing the Evolving History of U.S. Study Abroad
Essay by: William W. Hoffa .......................................................................................... 17

International Education and the Common Good: An Appraisal of the First 10 Years of the Global Studies Literature Review
Essay by: Melissa Whatley, North Carolina State University, and Bryan McAllister-Grande, Northeastern University ............................................................ 21

Reviews

Valuing Global Experience

Thinking Bigger in International Education

Review by: Sara Stene McGuinn, Northwestern University ................................................ 27

Education Abroad’s Copernican Moment?

Review by: Jonathan Larson, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. .................. 30
Intentional Intercultural Pedagogy

Review by: Linda Drake Gobbo, Antioch University New England .......................... 33

Shifting Off-Campus Study from the Sideline to the Frontline in Undergraduate Curricula

Review by: Melissa Wagner-Reese, Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis .............. 37

Cross-Cultural Interaction: Passport No Longer Required

Review by: Jay Bradley, George Mason University ........................................ 39

In the Field

Review by: Ernesto Verdeja, University of Notre Dame ........................................ 41

Power to Lead and Empower: The Role of Senior International Officers at U.S. Higher Education Institutions

Review by: Ashley T. Simmons Coffey, University of Kentucky .......................... 43

Bridging Intercultural Education and Diversity

Teaching Interculturally: A Practical and Persuasive Guide to Aligning Postsecondary Teaching with the Needs of Increasingly Diverse Classrooms

Review by: Jeff Blair, The Northwest School ........................................ 45

“Pale, Male (and Often Stale)”: Efforts to Decolonize Academia

Review by: Drew Villierme-Lightfoot, Arcadia University .......................... 47
Celebrating the Differences: The Foundation of Progress

Review by: Tian Gong, California State Polytechnic University-Pomona .......................... 49

Disrupting Racial Hierarchies

Review by: Joseph F. Stanley, Providence College ......................................................... 52

Connecting the Dots: Exploring the Interface Between Curriculum Internationalization and Diversity and Inclusion Efforts

Review by: Nick J. Gozik, Boston College ................................................................. 54

A New Approach to Intercultural Communicative Competence in Study Abroad Programs

Review by: Laure Bordas-Isner, Wayne State University ............................................. 57